DHS OIG INVESTIGATIVE SUMMARY
CIA OIG Employee Whistleblower
Retaliation Complaint

Unclassified Summary

August 8, 2019

In February 2016, the Inspector General for the Intelligence Community (ICIG), I. Charles McCullough, asked the DHS OIG to review a Presidential Policy Directive 19 ("PPD-19") complaint filed by [REDACTED], a former CIA employee. The DHS OIG accepted the request, and in August 2016, the DHS OIG determined that it would conduct a full Whistleblower Retaliation Investigation.

In the complaint [REDACTED], a former CIA OIG Special Agent, alleged that CIA OIG officials, including former CIA IG, David Buckley, suspended [REDACTED] security clearance and placed [REDACTED] on administrative leave as retaliation for [REDACTED] providing information and assistance to an ICIG official. [REDACTED] alleged that [REDACTED] assisted an ICIG official who was conducting an official inspection into CIA OIG activities. [REDACTED] alleged that as required by 50 U.S.C. § 3033(g)(2), [REDACTED] provided assistance and shortly thereafter CIA OIG officials scolded [REDACTED] for cooperating without having first told CIA OIG officials, and then on April 30, 2014 suspended [REDACTED] clearance and placed [REDACTED] on administrative leave.

The DHS OIG completed its investigation and substantiated some of [REDACTED] allegations. Specifically, the DHS OIG determined that the CIA OIG opened a "retaliatory investigation" against [REDACTED] because of [REDACTED] cooperation with an ICIG official, which is protected activity under PPD-19. While conducting the retaliatory investigation, the CIA OIG discovered other, unrelated derogatory information, which it used, along with [REDACTED] protection activity, to suspend [REDACTED] clearance and place [REDACTED] on administrative leave. The DHS OIG made one recommendation and has referred the complete Classified Report of Investigation to the CIA to determine appropriate corrective action.
